

Stephanie Howell
Chief of Legal Assistance
Office of the Staff Judge Advocate (OSJA)
4th Infantry Division, Fort Carson, Colorado

Stephanie Howell is the Chief of Legal Assistance at the Office of the Staff Judge Advocate (OSJA) for the 4th Infantry Division and Fort Carson, Colorado. Her duties include supervising the Legal Assistance Office, which provides free legal services to service members, retirees, and their dependents, as well as the installation Special Victims' Counsel program, which provides legal representation to victims of sexual assault and serious domestic violence. She joined the Fort Carson OSJA in summer 2019. Prior to her Army career, Stephanie spent five years on active duty in the Air Force Judge Advocate General's Corps, stationed at Little Rock Air Force Base, Arkansas as an Assistant Staff Judge Advocate and Moody Air Force Base, Georgia as a Special Victims' Counsel. She received her undergraduate degree from the University of Georgia in 2011 and is a 2014 graduate of the University of Georgia School of Law. She is licensed to practice in Georgia. Stephanie's husband is a police officer with the Colorado Springs Police Department, and they have an eight-month-old daughter, Evelyn.